July 2025 BANT Webinar

Personalised Prebiotics: Optimising Gut Microbiome Health with Prebiotics

Hello there,

BANT Webinar Partnership Programme in partnership with Invivo Healthcare.

Catch up on the most recent webinar on offer exclusively to members of BANT. We have the recording of the recent live event which took place this month, ready for you in the BANT Learning Zone library, Digestion and Microbiome Category.

Featuring Hannah Braye, Clinical Director of Invivo Healthcare and BANT Registered Nutritionist explores the latest evidence and practical strategies for using personalised prebiotics to optimise gut health. You will learn how to utilise prebiotic interventions to enhance clinical outcomes and deliver truly personalised nutrition advice.

This webinar will cover:

- How prebiotics are classified and how they differ from other fibres
- How prebiotics can influence the gut microbiome and common clinical scenarios
- How gut microbiome testing using metagenomic sequencing can reveal deeper insights to inform prebiotic recommendations
- Alternative prebiotic approaches to herbal antimicrobial therapy to effectively address gut dysbiosis and clinical symptoms
- When best to recommend food sources of prebiotics and when supplemental interventions may be more appropriate
- Prebiotic doses supported by research evidence
- How to manage common "curve balls" that can occur when introducing prebiotics in clinical practice, to ensure greatest client compliance.

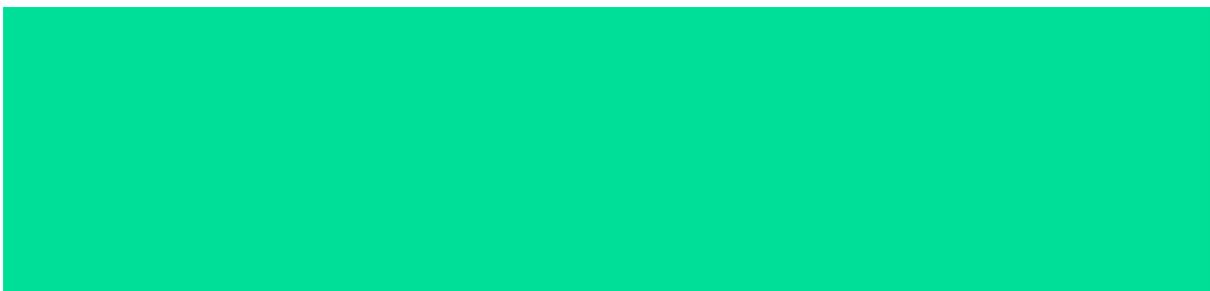

The webinar is now live and exclusive to BANT members in the BANT Learning Zone library, Digestion and Microbiome Category.

This webinar is brought to you as part of the BANT Webinar Partnership Programme. All webinars are screened by the BANT CPD Committee to ensure a scientific basis for all claims made. BANT does not endorse or have affiliations with any product or service company. Funds raised by BANT as part of this programme are used to expand member benefits.
